Collection Policy - Tweed Regional Museum

Policy Objective

The Collection Policy guides the decision-making process for shaping the collections of Tweed Regional Museum ('the Museum').

The Collection Policy is a set of principles that guides collecting, loans and de-accessions.

The Collection Policy is a reference document that should be used in conjunction with appropriate available professional expertise and resources.

The Collection Policy shall be reviewed every five years for its relevance and accuracy in relation to the International Council of Museums Code of Ethics for Museums<sup>1</sup> and within the framework of the NSW Heritage Office Movable Heritage Principles<sup>2</sup>, and to ensure strategic collecting priorities reflect the changing nature of the Tweed.

The purpose of the Collection is to create a set of physical and electronic resources that can be used to:

- enrich knowledge, understanding and experience of the history of the Tweed Region
- contribute to and foster critical historical and cultural debate
- create a sense of place
- interpret thematically the history and development of the district
- conserve heritage for the benefit of the community and future generations
- contribute to the development of an outstanding museum for the Tweed Region
- provide an educational and research facility for the community

Policy Background

This policy was originally developed in consultation with Kylie Winkworth, Museum Consultant, with members of the Historical Societies of Murwillumbah, Tweed Heads and Uki & South Arm, the Tweed Regional Museum Advisory Committee and officers of Tweed Shire Council. Minor updates related to the appointment of a Museum Director and reformatting were undertaken in 2013.

Nature of the Collection:

In 1999 the historical societies at Murwillumbah, Tweed Heads and Uki and South Arm began working together to create a single sustainable regional museum for the Tweed operating over three sites, resulting in a Memorandum of Understanding with Tweed Shire Council in 2004.

The Collection of Tweed Regional Museum was created in 2004 by an amalgamation and transfer of ownership to Council of the collections of the historical societies of Murwillumbah, Tweed Heads and Uki & South Arm.

Each separate collection evolved over time and a range of factors lead to the shaping of the collections as they are today. Over many decades, museum volunteers in the Tweed Shire have built an outstanding cultural resource about the people, places and history of the area. This includes significant object and photograph collections as well as archives, research files and oral histories.

This Collection Policy aims to enhance strategically the depth and importance of the Collection by approaching collecting in a manner that reflects the Tweed Region as a whole, single entity.

The Collection Policy of Tweed Regional Museum will have a primary focus on collecting for exhibitions, educational purposes, research and archiving.

Policy

1.1 General Principles

All collecting activity and collection management processes will be conducted in accordance with the ICOM Code of Ethics for Museums<sup>3</sup> and within the framework of the NSW Heritage Office Movable Heritage Principles.<sup>4</sup>

The Museum will undertake targeted and coordinated collecting in order to enhance the depth and value of its collection as a reflection of the history of the Tweed Region.

The Collection will reflect traditional, recent and evolving areas of the history of the Tweed Region and its cultural diversity and personal histories.

It is recognised that Tweed Regional Museum is not solely a collecting institution so this policy must be applied in the context of the broader mission of the Museum as an educational and research facility and a community space.

The Collection Policy is to be applied in the context of the collections of other museums, galleries, libraries, keeping places, archives and heritage organisations in the district and in New South Wales and neighboring south eastern Queensland.

The Museum recognises that there are alternatives to collecting which will be considered in cases where collection is not appropriate.

The Museum will actively pursue non-collecting initiatives, such as assisting the community to document and care for heritage collections in their original context, and by collecting electronic and/or duplicated copies of materials held in other institutions or in private collections.

No objects shall be acquired from significant heritage sites and buildings where acquisition and removal would diminish the significance of the place, except in circumstances where the object is at risk.

Acquisitions, loans and de-accessions will be considered in the context of the digital age and contemporary technology utilised where appropriate.

Materials will only be acquired when the Museum can provide appropriate resources and storage to ensure their safety.

Materials may be acquired as donations, bequests, purchases, or transfers.

No materials should be acquired with conditions or restrictions on the way they might be used or displayed in the future.

The Museum does not accept conditional donations. In some cases the proposed donation may be eligible for tax deductions under the Cultural Gifts Program. The Cultural Gifts Program encourages gifts of significant cultural items to public art galleries, museums and libraries by offering donors a tax deduction for the market value of their gifts, under Subdivision 30-A of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.

1.2 Acquisition Principles

Objects are considered for acquisition where they fall into the following categories; three dimensional objects, documents and printed material, original artworks, original maps, original photographs, engravings, film footage, born digital materials and images that depict or are associated with people, places and events significant or unique to the Tweed Region's history (hereafter referred to as 'Objects').

The Museum collects Objects that are relevant to the Tweed Region, with an emphasis on items provenanced to the Region and related to people closely associated with the area at key periods in history.

The Museum also collects in areas of its curatorial expertise, such as maritime history, river transport and the development of dairying.

The Museum will only acquire Aboriginal cultural Objects of significance to the region in circumstances where the object is provenanced and in consultation with the Aboriginal Community.

To be considered for acquisition by purchase or donation, an Object must be of a quality and condition that is relevant to this Acquisition Policy.

Acquisition is dependent on the availability of support documentation or other evidence of the provenance of the Object.

In some exceptional cases, Objects may be acquired without provenance to a Tweed Region family, place, person, institution or firm if the Object was typically used in the Tweed or if the Object elucidates taste or style associated with or unique to the Tweed Region.

Objects without provenance in rare circumstances will only be accepted where they assist in the interpretation of the Region's history, via one of the identified criteria and/or have an educational role.

1.3 Acquisition Criteria

Objects will be considered if they fall in to the following prioritised criteria:

1.3.1 Criteria 1 – Historic

Being an Object provenanced to the Tweed Region during one of the six major chronological phases of the history of the Region:

- natural History
- pre European contact, mapping and colonisation to 1844
- the arrival of the cedar getters, selection and the development of primary industry and the growth of towns and villages 1844 -1900
- Federation to the end of the Wars 1901 – 1945; Federation, local government, the depression and wars
- Post War transformation of the Tweed Region 1946 – 1980; including migration, beach culture and the alternative movement
- the migration to the coast, 1981 onwards. Including the development of coastal communities, retirees and Sea Change

1.3.2 Criteria 2 - Thematic

Within the historical scope, the Museum has an interest in particular themes, against which Objects may be considered for collection including:

- natural Environment: geology, geography, climate, topography
- industry: agriculture, pastoralism, forestry, tourism, fishing
- people, events, leisure, sport, religion and culture of the district
- Aboriginal history
- South Sea Islander history
- the built environment, towns and villages
- land development and environmental change
- maritime and river history
- radio and communications – a specialist collection at Murwillumbah
- photography
- children's and women's history

- government and the border zone
- health and services
- law and order
- the Tweed Region and wars
- locally invented, made and improvised objects

The Heritage Collections Council significance assessment method and criteria will be used as a general framework for assessment against criteria of proposed acquisitions.<sup>5</sup>

The primary assessment criteria are:

- historic significance
- aesthetic significance
- scientific or research significance
- social or spiritual significance

The comparative criteria are:

- provenance
- representation
- rarity
- condition, intactness, integrity
- interpretive potential

1.4 De-accession Principles

De-accessioning is the process of de-registering an Object from the collection for clearly stated reasons, and disposing of it in accordance with approved policies.

Caution and transparency are essential in the de-accessioning process.

During ongoing consolidation of the Collection, Tweed Regional Museum will undertake an active program of de-accessioning to ensure that materials held are only those relevant, and appropriate to the future directions of the Museum.

In the longer term, de-accessions will be minimised through careful, strategic collection.

1.5 De-accession Criteria

The assessment criteria for de-accessioning are:

- little or no relevance to the Collection Policy and Acquisition Criteria
- little or no significance
- poor condition and lack of provenance or documentation
- duplication in the Museum Collection or other relevant collection
- inability to safely store and manage the Object
- acquisition of a like Object of greater significance rendering earlier acquisition redundant

<sup>5</sup> Russell & Winkworth, Significance, Heritage Collections Council and Department of Communications, Information Technology and the Arts, 2001

In exceptional circumstances, items may be de-accessioned where the Object is of particular indigenous cultural significance and its return to the community will support the maintenance and renewal of cultural traditions.

1.6 Loans Principles

Loans may only be made or accepted for fixed periods and for specific purposes.

No Objects will be accepted on indefinite or long term loan.

Loans will be accepted/permitted for a period of up to twelve months for the purposes of exhibition or research to /from appropriate institutions, or as determined by the Museum Director.

Loans will be accepted or made on a case-by-case basis, ensuring all loans are returned by the date indicated on the loan documentation.

With the agreement of both parties, loans can be re-negotiated prior to the return date.

The Museum reserves the right to request an Object's return if the need arises.

2. PROCEDURES

2.1 Acquisition Procedure

- The first point of contact is the Museum Director.

3. RESEARCH COLLECTION STRATEGY

Over the years, the historical societies have amassed and filed a large collection of ephemera, secondary sources, copied items and oral histories that is an irreplaceable and valuable research resource.

While the physical nature of these files does not warrant accessioning in to the Collection proper, the materials as a whole warrant the status of a Research Collection, and access, and future inclusions will be managed to maintain the accessibility of the collection for research and ensure its appropriate use.

The purpose of the Research Collection is to accept and store ephemera, books, photographs, images, serials and manuscripts relating to the history of the Tweed Region and to provide access to this collection as an information resource and service.

Items accepted into the Research Collection may be originals or copies of originals.

Material may be included in the Research Collection without provenance to a Tweed Region family, place, person, institution or firm if the material contains information associated with or unique to the Tweed Region.

Though items accepted into this collection are not accessioned into the Museum Collection, they are assessed against the Collection Policy Acquisition Criteria as a guide.

Areas of research interest include people, companies, institutions, public agencies and families that elucidate or exemplify some aspect of Tweed Region's history whether typical or exceptional and records relating to births, deaths, marriages, cemeteries, shipping lists, council documents, postal directories, maps, oral histories, family histories and other similar items that would not be acquired in the Collection proper.

Original documents and images may in some cases be accepted into this collection, where their condition is sound and significance is dependant on their being one part t of a body of associated research material.

3.1 Research Collection Procedure

Additions to this collection are made only where the donor agrees the material can be placed on general access and permission for all forms of use and reproduction of this material for research, publication or exhibition is granted upon donation via completing the Research Collection Receipt and/or an Oral History Release Form.

4. EDUCATION RESOURCES STRATEGY

An item not considered appropriate for formal acquisition to the Collection or Research Collection may be accepted as an Education Resource.

This includes items that:

- have not been acquired by the Museum
- do not meet the Collection Policy selection criteria for acquisition
- may be used as a 'hands on' or 'extra' in an exhibition or public program
- will not be stored with acquired Objects
- can be disposed of at any time without following the guidelines set out in the De-accession and Disposal Policy.

4.1 Education Resources Procedure

- Education Resources will be numbered and recorded in the Education Resources Register.
- Each Education Resource will be physically numbered in the same manner as objects.
- The Education Resource numbers will be identified by the prefix 'E' appearing before the number.
- If Education Resources are disposed of, this information should be recorded in the Education Resources Register.
